

Juliana True Jones-Beaton

jtrue@udel.edu

studies how bodies operate as objects and metaphors through the lens of disability and gender in literature.

EDUCATION

Ph.D. in English

University of Delaware, August 2021–Present

M.Arts in English

Mississippi State University, August 2019–May 2021

Thesis: “No Pain, Just Tricky to Manipulate”: Sylvia Plath Across Genres,
Advised by Dr. Ted Atkinson

B.Arts in English

Mississippi State University, August 2016–May 2019

Summa Cum Laude

INSTRUCTOR OF RECORD

Instructor of Record, English 1113: Composition 2

Department of English, Mississippi State University
Spring 2021

Instructor of Record, English 1103: Composition 1

Department of English, Mississippi State University
Fall 2020

POSITIONS

Teaching Assistant for Dr. Ed Larkin, English 150: Human Will in Fantasy Worlds

Department of English, University of Delaware
Spring 2022

Teaching Assistant for Dr. Christine Cucciarre, English 110: Seminar in Composition

Department of English, University of Delaware
Fall 2021

Writing Tutor

The Writing Center, University of Delaware
Fall 2021–Spring 2022

Research Assistant for Dr. Elizabeth Miller

Department of English, Mississippi State University
Spring 2021

Writing Tutor

The Writing Center, Mississippi State University
Fall 2019–Summer 2020

Technical Writing Tutor/Editor

Bagley College of Engineering, Mississippi State University
Fall 2018–Spring 2019

Stage Manager

Theatre MSU, Mississippi State University

- Beowulf (Fall 2019)
- The Tempest (Spring 2019)
- Dracula (Fall 2018)
- A Christmas Carol (Fall 2017)

Theatre Photographer

Theatre MSU, Mississippi State University
All productions from Fall 2016 to 2020

CONFERENCES

“Seeing Disability in Film Noir: Masculinity and Metaphors of Bodies”

International Conference on Film Studies

February 2022

“‘Nobody Cares for a Letter’: Subverting the Epistolary with Epistle in Austen’s Emma”

International Conference on Narrative

May 2021

“Social Media Wizards and the Golden Tweet”
International Conference on Narrative
March 2020

HONORS

Phi Beta Kappa
(Inducted Spring of 2019)

Alpha Psi Omega
(Inducted Spring of 2019)

President’s List
Fall 2017, Spring 2017, Spring 2018

Dean’s List
Fall 2016

Proficient in Spanish—four semesters at the college level